This is the season of Advent – the season of preparation for the arrival of the Christ. At this time of year, many sermons focus on the themes of the season: love, hope, joy, and peace. Each of these reveal the heart of the Father toward His creation. As you listen, you will hear of the messages of the angels, of the movement of the shepherds and of the magi, and of the manger because there was “no room in the inn.” As you listen, you may also find another theme resonating through the Christmas story, and it is the theme of obedience. Mary responds to the message of the angel by saying, “I am the Lord’s servant.” The magi respond to the dream by “returning to their own country by another route.” The shepherds search for the sign shown to them by the heavenly host. Joseph, when confronted with an unexpected reality, relied on the truth from a Sovereign God, and “took Mary home as his wife.” In each case, each character heard the word of God and followed in faith. There is also an example of someone who had the word of God, heard the word of God, and yet remained resolute in his defiance of God. King Herod, when approached by the wise men, knew who to ask about the location of the Messiah, and those he asked had no problem producing an answer. Rather being filled with joy at the fulfillment of His promise of a Savior, Herod was filled with jealousy. Without a doubt, the word of God will be seen and heard in abundance in the next few weeks. Faith will deliver love, joy, peace, and hope as we remain open to His voice and obedient to His word!
